Author and Music Series
presents three Oregon poets

Spring Poetry Reading

A partnership between the Springfield Public Library and the Eugene/Springfield Chapter of the Oregon State Poetry Association

"We rode all over in that ugly green Hudson with its broken front windshield, springs poking through its back seat, blackberry vines growing through rusted floorboards...." from Rolls-Royce Dreams

GINGER ANDREWS was born and raised in North Bend, Oregon, and lives there still. She is the author of two poetry collections, Hurricane Sisters and An Honest Answer, both from Story Line Press. She runs a small housecleaning business with her three sisters, who all live within walking distance.

"Coffee road stop sold unmarked honey in homely jars, $3 scrawled in shaky pen onto silver lids."
from Honey from Mudjee

CLAUDIA LAPP was born in Germany, grew up near Baltimore, and moved to Montreal after graduating from Bennington College in Vermont; she arrived in Eugene in 1991. She studied poetry with Allen Ginsberg, Anne Waldman and Diane de Prima at Naropa Institute. She has also been an active photographer since 2000 (Poet with a Pentax).

"A cartographer's curtain of droplets drawn over an avocado green, the median color on the rainbow bar at the bottom of the map." from All the News I Need

TIM VOLEM was raised in the Northeast, and he and his wife Judy have lived in the Eugene area since the early 70s. They have two grown children and two grandsons. Tim taught English for two decades at Willamette High in Eugene and has been retired since 2004. He spends some of his time playing music with friends, and he is active in the Rainy Day Blues Society and the Lane Literary Guild.

Tuesday, April 5, 2011 from 7-9pm
